I. COURSE OBJECTIVES

Congratulations on your decision to continue studying one of the most interesting languages in the world. This is the second level of a basic Chinese course. Prerequisites include at least one semester of college level Chinese or two years of high school Chinese.

II. COURSE OBJECTIVES

Students will gain listening, speaking, reading and writing skills in standard (Mandarin) Chinese. Specifically, students will be able to achieve the following (based on ACTFL proficiency guidlines):

Listening: Able to understand sentence-length utterances which consist of recombinations of learned elements in a limited number of content areas, particularly if strongly supported by the situational context. Comprehension areas include such basic needs as getting meals, lodging, and transportation, and receiving simple instructions and routine commands.

Speaking: Able to handle successfully a limited number of uncomplicated task-oriented and social functions pertaining to such topic areas as those mentioned above. Can ask and answer questions, initiate and respond to simple statements and maintain face-to-face conversation. Can perform such tasks as introducing self, ordering a meal, asking directions, and making purchases.

Reading: Can read, for basic survival and social needs, simple connected, specially prepared material and can puzzle out pieces of some authentic material as it reflects similarity to specially prepared material and/or to high-frequency oral vocabulary and structure. Can puzzle out very simple hand-printed messages, personal notes and very short letters which are written by a native speaker used to dealing with foreigners. Able to decode one or two elements from simple connected texts dealing with basic personal and social needs, such as signs, public announcements and short, straightforward instructions dealing with public life.

Writing: Able to meet limited practical writing needs. Can write short messages, postcards, and take down simple notes, such as telephone messages. Can create statements or questions within the scope of limited language experience. Material produced consists of recombinations of learned vocabulary and structures into simple sentences on very familiar topics.

III. COURSE MATERIALS

1. Tao-chung Yao and Yuehua Liu, Integrated Chinese, Level One, Part 2, Textbook (Traditional Character Edition), Boston: Cheng & Tsui, 1997.

2. Tao-chung Yao and Yuehua Liu, Integrated Chinese, Level One, Part 2, Workbook (Traditional Character Edition), Boston: Cheng & Tsui, 1997.

3. Tao-chung Yao and Yuehua Liu, Integrated Chinese, Level One, Part 2, Character Workbook (Traditional Character Edition), Boston: Cheng & Tsui, 1997.

4. Cassette tapes to accompany text and workbook.

5. Handouts: to be distributed.

IV. CLASS REQUIREMENTS

1. Attendance: Attendance is mandatory. Any absences must be excused in advance. Each unexcused absence will lower your final grade by one percentage point. Please do not be tardy. Each late arrival to class will lower your final grade by one half percentage point. As an incentive to attend class and be on time, I will add two percentage points to your final grade if you have no absences (excused or unexcused) or tardies during the entire semester.

2. Class preparation: Always come to class prepared for the day's lesson. This includes listening to the applicable tapes. You must come to class prepared to participate. To do so will require you to study somewhere between one and two hours between each class. If you consistently prepare and actively participate, you will find Chinese not only easy, but fun! Lack of preparation will cause you to become quickly lost and extremely frustrated. Consistent failure to perform in class will also affect your grade.

3. Homework and Assignments: All homework and assignments must be turned in on the due date as indicated in the weekly schedule. Late homework and assignments will NOT be accepted. You should plan to listen to the tapes and practice writing characters EVERY DAY. No language can be acquired overnight. Chinese language proficiency will be acquired gradually through consistent practice.

4. Quizzes and tests: Quizzes and tests cannot be made up unless arrangements are made BEFORE being absent from class. No one is allowed to make up a missed quiz or test without first notifying the instructor of the absence.

VI. GENERAL

1. If you are in need of assistance, see the instructor for help. Please make an appointment and try to identify your specific problem before you come. Remember, extra help is not a substitute for not studying and doing homework. It is your responsibility to keep up and ask for help when required or desired.

2. The instructor will make every reasonable effort to accommodate students with special handicaps. Please inform him of any special needs during the first week of class.

3. In response to health, death and other unforeseen circumstances, the instructor reserves the right to make changes to the syllabus during the course of the semester.

VII. HELPFUL HINTS

1. Repetition and continued review are the keys to learning a language. Everything you learn will be cumulative. Do not attempt to cram before a quiz or test. It will not work.

2. Make every class a learning experience. Do not be afraid to speak up in class or make mistakes. The way you learn to communicate is by trying to say something, even if you don't know exactly how. Please remember that each student's background, interests, learning style, difficulties and goals are different. Please be patient with each other.

3. You must practice. Language is a set of habits, and the only way to acquire these habits is by constant reinforcement through practice and repetition—both in class and at home.

4. Study often out loud. Reading aloud and repeating dialogues aloud helps to learn new material by adding auditory and motor memory. When memorizing dialogues, use the text only to familiarize yourself with the content, then use the tape, in order to insure correct pronunciation. Practice with the tapes until you have mastered the dialogue and can imagine yourself comfortably assuming the roles of the speakers.

Class Schedule

Each lesson will be covered on a six-day cycle, as follows:

Day 1: dialogue performance; oral activities based on vocabulary and dialogue
(HAVE DIALOGUE MEMORIZED BY THIS DAY [dialogue 1 in each chapter], READY FOR PERFORMANCE CHECK)

Day 2: grammar explanations; culture, listening comprehension
(LISTENING COMPREHENSION SECTION OF WORKBOOK ALWAYS DUE THIS DAY)

Day 3: dialogue expansion; listening comprehension; pattern drills, character quiz
(PREPARE BY STUDYING DIALOGUE, GRAMMAR AND PATTERN DRILLS—USE TAPES)

Day 4: dialogue expansion; pattern drills; communicative activities
(PREPARE BY STUDYING DIALOGUE, GRAMMAR AND PATTERN

DRILLS—USE TAPES)

Day 5: reading/writing exercises; lesson quiz (starting w/ lesson 6)
(TURN IN CWB AND OTHER ASSIGNED HOMEWORK THIS DAY)

Day 6: improvisation dialogues; oral and/or reading and writing exercises
(PREPARE BY REVIEWING ENTIRE CHAPTER; INCORPORATE GRAMMAR AND VOCAB INTO NEW, UNIQUE EXPRESSIONS)

The final exam will not be given early to accommodate early departure schedules.
