Objectives: This course provides a review of Accounting 201. Students will use a practice set to journalize, prepare statements, and analyze the results for six separate months. This practice set will require the use of the computer and a general ledger software package called VGL, although some manual work is required. New concepts and procedures will be introduced in the practice set each month. Over the six month period, the business will continually grow and will change from a service firm to a merchandising firm. This course may not transfer to other institutions, or if it does, it will probably transfer only as an elective course.

Policies:

1. Ricks dress and grooming standards are expected in class.

2. Cheating will not be tolerated

3. In compliance with applicable disability law, qualified students with a disability may be entitled to "reasonable accommodation." It is the student's responsibility to disclose to the teacher any special need he/she may have before the end of the first week of class.

4. Testing Tests will be given in the testing center Monday through Friday 8am-10pm and Saturday 10am-4pm. The last test is given out one hour before closing time. Students must accept responsibility for bringing a #2 lead pencil, taking the tests before they close and allowing sufficient time for them. Lines often are a problem at night before an American Heritage or other large class closes. Mornings and afternoons are safer times to take tests in the testing center. Except for the final, there will be a retake on all tests. The last score counts if higher or averaged if lower.
